

Of the three restructuring petitions under review I urge the Commission to embrace the ideas and principles contained in this petition. The testing process needs to be reviewed and that should be part of any restructuring creating a new entry level license the Commission considers. The RAF group has well studied the issues and provided the Commission with proposals that will help the amateur service grow into the 21st century. I urge the Commission to accept many of the ideas contained in this petition as a framework for any restructuring under consideration.
